

The Impact Loop

of inner & outer change

This model proposes a frame to think about the inner and outer work needed for impact.

It is intended to make explicit what awareness-based systemic change takes and to support in creating as well as maintaining alignment and coherence across levels as we do this Work.

On all levels, the inner work drives the outer work, which drives the impact.

Each level contains the previous one, as we expand our radius of influence and impact we continuously revisit and refine the previous layers in constant practice.

This model can also be used as a model/map to identify your own field of influence, where you can have the most impact with your efforts and unique contribution - as an individual and as a team.
